STREET DANCE & SOUP BOX DERBY

The Langley Street Dance in July filled the Second Street Plaza with hundreds of dancers enjoying local music by Janie Cribbs and the T. Rust Band and Rusty Fender. Plans are underway to make this a yearly tradition and return to our roots with celebrations everyone loves. The Soup Box Derby is another beloved tradition, returned to the town by the Langley Community Club. Those wild and wacky racers range in age from 5 to 95. Yes, Peter Lawlor at 95 is still going strong in “The Whole Enchilada,” as he narrowly beat Gary Piper’s racing outhouse “Hurry.” Only in Langley can there be this much fun.
